

50 SEARCH SEEDS AND THE COSTUME PROTOCOL

50 Research Seeds — Costume the Algorithm

What it is: Exact search seeds + the step-by-step method Kevis teaches to wear the YouTube algorithm like a costume so your homepage surfaces high-RPM faceless niches aimed at older demographics — not the teen feed your personal account already locked you into.

When to use it: Before niche selection. On a blank Google/YouTube account or true incognito profile. Never on your personal watch history.

Source doctrine: Rick tape `N4qM_nHRnBU` (5-minute niche fix) + Over-50 leftovers pack. Expanded from 20 → 50 seeds, grouped by intent.

Why this works (in plain English)

Your normal YouTube account already decided you are a 20–35-year-old who likes whatever you already watch. When you “research niches” on that account, YouTube shows you a filtered internet. The profitable older-demo sectors stay hidden.

Fix: abandon the main account. Train a blank profile to look like a high-net-worth 55–65 American homeowner. After ~3 days of disciplined watching, the homepage becomes a map of quiet channels printing money in unsaturated corners.

Teaching why older demo: significant disposable income → advertisers pay premium rates for their attention (Rick: finance examples cited in the $10–$15 RPM conversation on tape; boring-channel teaching cites mature topics often $8–$20 RPM range — these are teaching ranges, not your guarantee).

How to costume — exact steps

Before Day 1

1. Open incognito, or create a brand-new Google account + YouTube channel.
2. Do not log into your normal YouTube. Do not use the TV app on your real profile.
3. Phone away. You must actually let videos play.
4. Have this seed list open beside you.

Every session (~30 minutes — then stop)

1. Search the next unused seed.
2. Open a calm video (history / hobby / adult money / legal / nature). Skip loud hosts, vlogs, challenge formats, talking-head gurus. Prefer faceless so you train toward niches you can replicate.
3. Watch 10 full minutes. No 2× skip-binge. Mute OK.
4. Like.
5. Subscribe (optional but helpful).
6. Use “People also watched” / Suggested to open another faceless neighbor — still 10 minutes.
7. Do 3 videos total (~30 min).
8. Close the window. Do not binge.

Day-by-day

Day	Job
1 Seed	3 seeds. Homepage still generic. Normal.
2 Double down	3 new seeds. If Suggested already matches (cars, WWII, clocks), click those too.
3 Read the costume	Screenshot homepage before searching. Still teen junk? Wrong login — restart blank.
4 Goldmine	Homepage first. Quiet channels, older demo, long calm videos. Screenshot = your map .
5 Candidates	Open 5 Suggested channels. Name + top video URL + length.
6 Keep/Kill + Scorecard	Run <code>02-niche-validation-scorecard.md</code> . Most die. Good.
7 Extract	On a PASS: Show transcript → copy → Claude pacing clone → stop being the researcher.

Rules that keep this from becoming a second job

- 30 minutes. Then stop.
- Never train your personal account.
- If you skip-watch, like without watching, or click 20 videos in 5 minutes, YouTube treats you like a bot — costume fails.
- Do not click personal brands when your goal is faceless replication training.

Seed prompt (generate fresh 20 anytime)

Give me a list of 20 highly specific video topics that only a 50-to-65-year-old American homeowner would search for on a Friday night.

Rules:

- Each one must sound like a real YouTube search, not a blog title
- Mix three buckets: history, mature money, forgotten hobbies
- No teen trends, no crypto day-trading, no MrBeast-style challenges
- No topics that need a face on camera or a film crew
- Keep them calm enough that a $20–$30 editor could cut them from stock footage and a voiceover

Safety notes

- Research only. Watching public videos to train a blank account for niche discovery is standard competitive research. Do not scrape, do not download others' footage to re-upload, do not clone titles/facts.
- Copyright: When you produce, use stock / archive / public domain / footage you can license. Bodycam/court = public source + careful narration; dramatized crime needs on-screen disclaimer (Rick teaching).
- Medical / finance: Educational framing — not personalized advice.
- Volume-safe: This protocol is self-serve. HeadStart DFY exists if capital + no time — not required to use this file.
